President and Vice President of Dollings Firm Accused.

HARRISON ARRESTED

Further Indictments Are Expected Says Attorney General

Columbus, Sept. 14.—Indictments on 14 counts charging William G. Benham, Columbus, president and Dwight Harrison also of Columbus, vice president and secretary of the defunct R. L. Dollings Company of Ohio with obtaining money under false pretenses were returned by the Preble County Grand Jury, according to announcement by Attorney General Crabbe today.

Harrison was arrested here late Thursday night and lodged in the Preble County Jail today. Benham has not yet been apprehended, being out of the city and his whereabouts unknown it was stated.

Similar conditions relative to the Dollings Company are being investigated in several counties and further indictments may be expected, Attorney General Crabbe said.

"We hope to prosecute in Franklin County where the home office was located on charges of embezzlement and misappropriation of hundreds of thousands, possibly millions of dollars," the attorney general declared.

"Benham and Harrison were indicted for making alleged false statements in writing concerning the property and means of the Phoenix Portland Cement Company of Ohio, a subsidiary of the Dollings company; falsely representing that all the subsidiary companies financed by the Dollings Company were earning and paying their own dividends and that purported dividends had been paid from the proceeds of stock sales, and not from surplus earnings," said Attorney General Crabbe.

PRESS CENSORSHIP GOVERNOR'S LATEST STEP IN OKLAHOMA

Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 14.—Censorship of the press, Governor J. C. Walton's latest step in his campaign to "clean up" Oklahoma, was in effect today in Tulsa and was threatened here.

"We have a man in the Tulsa Tribune to see that everything that goes into that paper is censored and we contemplate doing the same to the Muskogee Phoenix if it becomes necessary," Dr. A. F. Davenport, State Health Commissioner, announced, speaking for the governor.

An injunction in U. S. Court will be sought to prevent Governor Walton from interfering in the operation of Tulsa Tribune, according to a statement by owners today. The governor had declared he would send a military censor to the Tribune office.

With the installation of censorship of the press, the resignation within 24 hours of W. R. Sampson, grand exalted cyclops of Muskogee Klan number 3, was demanded by the governor through Davenport. Failure to comply with the demand will mean an order for extension of martial law to Muskogee, he said.

Surrounded by his armed bodyguard and a carefully laid screen of secrecy, Governor Walton left Tulsa hurriedly on a mission of special inquiry, said to be directed toward renewed defiance reported shown by the invisible empire in Okmulgee.

According to reports current here, flogging and night terrorism has flared up again in Okmulgee. A brutal whipping is said to have been administered there by hooded floggers, in the face of Governor Walton's strict proclamation.

From Bartlesville dispatches convey the information that knowledge of a recent flogging there became known to the authorities. Information is that the governor's own investigators discovered the flogging evidence in Okmulgee and reported direct to him.

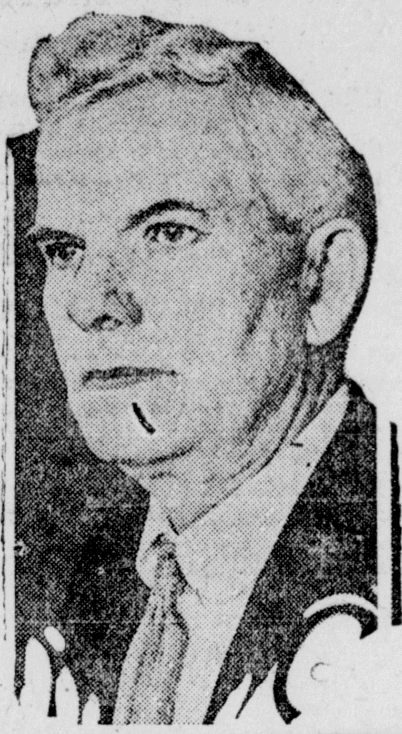

Certain it is that, far from withdrawing martial law in Tulsa, its control will be extended in the state. It is an open secret that the governor intends to place Muskogee, Okmulgee and perhaps Bartlesville under military rule soon as troops are available and he is in a position to move his military court of inquiry from Tulsa to the city or town next in line for a clean-up.

Marshall Moore, former special deputy sheriff, went on preliminary trial for the alleged flogging of Leonard Bagby at Broken Arrow in July, 1922. He was bound over to the district court in $15,000 bail.

MINE OWNERSHIP BY THE PUBLIC IS HINT GIVEN

Coal Commission Makes Important Recommendations

SEEK BETTER SERVICE

Bituminous Fields Are Also Affected It Is Pointed Out.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Unless the public receives better services from the coal industry, public ownership of that industry may become necessary.

The United States coal commission so intimates in a report on "labor relations in bituminous coal mining." The report contains thirty-seven recommendations and suggestions. These conclusions are presented, the report states significantly, in the hope that they "may help to point the way to better relations and to such service to the public that resort to public ownership may be unnecessary."

Some of the more important recommendations of the commission follow:

That both sides study means of meeting the fundamental problem of unemployment through stabilization of the industry, and that joint commissions be established to make thorough studies of the principal jobs and of the existing rate differentials, looking to revision of the rate structure at present marked by so many inequalities; that the government collect and publish rates and rate changes in the non-union fields; that check-weighmen be employed by the men in non-union fields "as a means of insuring confidence in weights;" that the form of wage payment known as "sub-contracting" and that leasing of convict labor to operators be discontinued.

That each agreement in the union fields provide that disputed cases of discharge be settled promptly through conciliation or arbitration and that non-union operators place adequate checks on the exercise of the right to discharge.

That violence, thuggery and gun work be condemned; whether practiced by the union to enforce complete unionization, or by the operators to prevent it.

That individual contracts which are not free-will contracts be abolished; that the right of union and non-union workers to advance their cause by "peaceful and honest persuasion" be recognized; and that a system of national negotiations, with district agreements be worked out to avoid standard-cutting district wars.

The report advocates the fullest of publicity in all phases of the industry and stresses the need of closer contact between district union officers and the men.

Referring to the check-off, the commission "recognized its injurious effects upon the union," but expressed the belief that "the unsettling effects of casting out this practice might more than over-balance the gains." It might be well to discontinue the check-off for the collection of fines and special assessments, the commission believes, but the question is one which is not vital enough to justify suspension of operations.

The report commends against compulsory arbitration as a means of preventing a national strike, declaring that the commissioners "do not believe in discretion-made law." It adds that there is no way to enforce a compulsory award which does not involve enforced labor or enforced operation.

SUPPER AT CHURCH FOR MR. AND MRS. FAULKNER

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Howard Faulkner (Wilfride Zartman) members of the choir of Trinity M. E. Church will enjoy a supper at the church parlors Friday evening. Mrs. Faulkner was formerly organist for the church. Members of the choir with their husbands and wives are invited to the affair.

Mr. Willis L. Bradley, student of the ministry will preach at the evening service at the First Baptist Church Sunday. Mr. Bradley returned to this city Thursday, from Lake Winnebago, New Hampshire, where he was engaged this summer as secretary for a young men's camp held under the auspices of the Boston Y. M. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Curlett (Eldnor McDaniel) have returned from their residence in the Livey Apartments, honeymoon, spent on a lake trip and at North Detroit Street.

Mrs. Paul Tindall, of Cincinnati, formerly of Xenia, has been spending several days in this city as the guest of Mrs. O. B. Shepard. She left this city for Springfield for a visit before returning home.

WAS A GOOD JUDGE OF LIQUOR

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere.

STRAW HAT AT MEETING SCORED

City commissioners in session Thursday night adjourned before they had taken up the question of City Auditor T. H. Zell's straw hat. When the commission adjourned City Manager S. O. Hale emerged in a soft hat and wearing an overcoat. Following him came City Auditor Zell and the summer head piece.

Commissioners rushed on the straw topper and would have done away with it had not saner minds interfered. On motion it was agreed to carry the matter over to the next meeting. Drastic action will probably be taken if the hat is still in evidence two weeks from Thursday.

Miss Helen Boyce is spending a week in Columbus with Mrs. J. M. Dillon.

Mrs. Edward Darling of the Jamestown pike, is suffering from an attack of summer grip.

Mr. Levi H. Custis of Sabina and Mr. J. W. Wood of Wilmington are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Custis on South Detroit Street.

Miss Kathryn O'Bea of South Detroit Street spent Thursday in Columbus.

POLICE DEPARTMENT WILL BE SUPPLIED WITH AUTOMOBILE

The Xenia Police Department will be supplied with a police automobile soon, according to action taken Thursday night by the City Commission in regular meeting.

The commission voted to appropriate funds to purchase a Ford touring car for the use of the department. Patrolmen will use the car in testing alarm boxes, answering emergency calls and general police patrol work, it is said.

That the Police Department should be equipped with an automobile was the recommendation of J. D. Breese, state examiner, in his report of the city's finance recently submitted. The commission authorized The Dayton Power and Light Company to erect a bridge on South King Street over the upper branch of Shawnee Creek to give the company access to the auxiliary station on South King Street. Plans for the bridge were submitted and approved.

The ordinance provided for an amendment to the charter to be voted on at the November election was placed on its second reading and passed. The amendment will provide

The train that gets "behind time" must sometimes lie for hours on side-tracks while other trains that are on time go by.

Passengers on such trains waste a lot of valuable time. They miss connections and consequently fail to keep their appointments. They lose money as well as time.

People who do not SAVE regularly, also lose the right of way. They fall behind and are side-tracked while the more successful ones pass by.

Trains sometimes make up lost time. You can do the same with a steady growing savings account. Start here today before it is too late—and catch up.

OUTLOOK CHEERING TO G. O. P. LEADERS.

President Coolidge gave concurrence today to the date suggested by Chairman John T. Adams for the meeting of the Republican National Committee, which is to fix the time and place of the 1924 national convention. The committee will meet in Washington December 11, the President having indicated he contemplated no other engagements which would cause him to be absent from the capital. It was not expected he would participate in the sessions of the committee, but the custom has been for a President to receive the committeemen at the White House, usually at a lunch.

Chairman Adams did not disclose whether he had discussed the general political situation with the President, but it was learned that all the reports reaching both Mr. Coolidge and himself were that affairs were developing nicely both for the President and the party.

The thirty days which have elapsed since the death of President Harding have been adequate to enable party chiefs to gauge the reaction, and they are agreed—as, indeed, are some Democrats in their moments of candor—that the tragic circumstances served to stabilize sentiment everywhere.

Reports which Republican leaders are receiving almost daily agree that Mr. Coolidge has inherited almost all of the assets and very few of the liabilities of the Harding Administration. By liabilities they mean the natural difficulties which accrue to any Administration during two years of office. There is, for example, the freedom of Mr. Coolidge from the party discontent which follows the inability of a President to appoint a hundred men to the same Federal position. He has been able to launch a new Administration minus that handicap.

The President has reiterated his determination not to take a hand in the choice of the convention city, but it may be put down as definite that Chicago will lose her apparent monopoly on the G. O. P. gatherings unless and until there are proper guarantees against overcharging by hotels in 1924. Frederick W. Upham, of Chicago, treasurer of the committee, is trying to overcome that obstacle. President Harding was said to have been unfavorable to Chicago for 1924 because of the excessive charges he said were levied against him in 1920. There was, moreover, the ejaculation of a newspaper treasurer on seeing the hotel bills of his paper's correspondents during the convention: "We authorized you to rent rooms, not to buy the whole hotel."

Today, Calvin Coolidge has the nomination in the hollow of his hand. He can and may, of course, lose it. The world of politics is an uncertain place, having its own tidal waves and earthquakes. A hard winter is before Mr. Coolidge, with plenty of holes in the ice. The farm bloc will be on his back. So, too, will the bonus advocates. The Sixty-eighth Congress promises to be a terror, with the Progressives setting up deadfalls and digging pits and the Democratic sharpshooters giving no quarter.

It is all a question of holding what he has, avoiding the pitfalls, walking cautiously and with circumspection and making no glaring mistakes for a few months.

IRELAND FREE STATE'S PRIDE IS ARMY TRAINED IN YEAR OF CHAOS.

Not the least achievement of the Ireland Free State during the last year has been the task of raising, equipping and disciplining the national army. It was literally born and reared on the battlefield. The lineal successor of the Irish volunteers and the Irish Republican Army, it is only since midsummer that it has known anything about peace-time existence.

It was only in June of last year that raw levies took the field, ill-equipped, undisciplined and badly officered; and in the fighting around Limerick only thirteen months ago one occasionally saw a newly arrived recruit out on field service in a jockey cap, sports trousers and any old kind of a jacket.

While General Collins first and General Mulcahy afterward were trying to recruit and drill an army, De Valera's cohorts were out destroying communications, murdering inhabitants in cold blood, isolating whole districts, burning dwelling houses, commandeering property of every description and creating in general a reign of terror. Thus, when it should have been wearing swaddling clothes, the Free State Government and the army which it created were confronted from the outset with the problem of rescuing the land from chaos.

Gradually the military forces have been whipped into shape. Six months ago we printed a series of articles on the situation in the Free State showing the darkest period of its existence. The writer, who at that time stressed the need of discipline in the army, has just seen a Bothar Buadha (victory march) in Dublin. Three thousand troops of the national army—foot, horse and artillery—with eight generals riding at their head took part in this parade, which was in honor of the first anniversary of Michael Collins' death. It was an imposing military spectacle and it is a pleasure to record that battalion after battalion of smartly uniformed troops marched by, trained to the last ounce, executing complicated maneuvers with clock-like precision.

That is what General Mulcahy, Minister for Defense, who has just retired as commander-in-chief, had done with the raw recruits one saw fighting in the southern area twelve months before. General Mulcahy succeeded Collins as commander-in-chief.

Tomato catsup recipes vary so much that I am giving the following different ones, for my Reader Friends to choose from:

Old-Time Tomato Catsup: Boil one bushel of ripe tomatoes with skins on and when soft strain through a colander to remove the skins. Now mix together two pounds of brown sugar, one cup of salt, two tablespoons each of ground cinnamon, all spice, mace and celery seed and stir this mixture into the tomatoes. Add two quarts of cider vinegar, stir well together then strain all through a sieve to eliminate the liquid part (that is, the part that runs through easily). Put this liquid into an agate kettle and boil it slowly till reduced one-half, then mix it with the other (thicker) part of the catsup and turn all into sterilized bottles. Cork tightly and dip bottles neck into melted paraffine. (To sterilize a bottle, boil it empty, in clear water for 15 minutes.)

To Make a Small Quantity of Tomato Catsup: Skin a gallon of ripe tomatoes by pouring boiling water over them then rubbing off the skins with your fingers. Put them cool before putting them into an agate or enamelware kettle with four tablespoons of salt, one teaspoon ground black pepper, two teaspoons of ground mustard and one-half teaspoon of ground allspice. Also add six red pepper pods, mash all together as much as possible, and bring to the boiling point over low heat, let simmer till the tomatoes are tender (adding a very little hot water if necessary to keep from burning). Then thin the mixture with one pint of vinegar (or enough to allow it to be strained through a sieve) and return the strained liquid to the kettle to boil for 15 minutes longer. Turn while hot into warm sterilized bottles, and seal with cork and paraffine as directed above.

Tomato-Onion Catsup: Boil one-half bushel of ripe tomatoes for 40 minutes, then press through a wide-meshed sieve to eliminate skins.

TIME
Time is the space allotted to the clay.
Wherein it moves, loves, strives and seeks its goal;
A gift to flesh to use, but not control.
Man shapes it into hours for toil and play,
Some for his dreams and some to sleep away,
Some for his purse, and some to feed his soul.
But only God is Master of the whole;

When shall his last hour come man, can say.
Time may be reckoned by the silent clock,
Or measured by the calendar years,
And some may count it by garnered stock
And others by their pleasure and their tears.
But howsoever 'tis measured, man knows
Where waits the final hour to which he goes.

Today's Talk

CONQUERING WHEN AFRAID OF YOURSELF

It is a spectacle worth watching when a man goes ahead unafraid of those combating against him. But it is a much more wonderful sight to see a man battling against his own fears—afraid of himself.

That is courage of the highest order.

Wellington, on seeing a general going into battle with a set jaw and a white face, exclaimed: "There goes a brave man. He knows his danger and faces it."

It is the fear of yourself that you have most to contend against.

To know that you have weaknesses, to be able to place your finger upon them, and to say in your heart that you are going to rise and be strong, is to become strong sooner or later.

And it is the strong men who inherit the earth.

You should learn to undertake more and greater things than you think at first that you are able to carry through.

No one knows his power until he has tried it out.

One way to become strong is to play to your strong points, ignoring your weaknesses. Exercise your entire being and there is weakness, growing strength is bound to make your weak points strong. In the same manner as a weak muscle becomes strong by the playing of a stronger muscle upon it.

Wiping out fear from our make-up is like clearing a road of rubbish.

Learn to take it for granted every faculty of your mind and body stands ready to attempt most difficult task that you can imagine.

Be yourself—then keep daring be bigger than yourself.

Don't let that rash spread

Apply a little Resinol Ointment the first bit of itching rash or patch, and body stands ready to attempt most difficult task that you can imagine. It's amazing how quickly this soothing ointment stops itching, reduces inflammation and soreness and restores skin to its normal healthy condition.

City Lives Within Income Of Smith 1 Per Cent Law

In the face of the fact that many cities say they will have to curtail important civic services unless the proposed Taft tax law is passed, Xenia City will not suffer materially should the measure be defeated.

This is indicated in the answers to a questionnaire sent out by George V. Sheridan, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, and answered by City Auditor T. H. Zell and City Manager S. O. Hale.

The questionnaires were sent out to Ohio cities in an effort to learn what effect non-passing of the law will have on the cities, before the council determines its position on it. A preliminary inquiry is said to have shown that many cities will have to cut police and fire protection and some abandon garbage collection and street cleaning and even water purification.

The fact that Xenia City is living within its income and has lopped off about $110 of its tax levy for this year, is proof that Xenia will not suffer should the measure be defeated. Answering the questionnaire, local officials said this city is not operating on any levies outside of the limits set by the Smith one per cent law; that Xenia does not expect to ask the people for an additional levy at the November election; that the city has not been compelled to curtail its services because of insufficient income due to the Smith law; that this city has not had to resort to new forms of taxation, such as occupation business and license taxes to increase its income; that this city is not contemplating any new form of tax; that Xenia is not contemplating additional assessments; that Xenia has not been forced to resort to street carnivals; that this city has not resorted to diverting bond funds to current expenditures; that it has not been forced to divert sinking funds to current expenditures; that no officials have been forced to serve without pay and that merchants or citizens have not voluntarily subscribed money to make possible the continuance of service.

Although the Smith one per cent law has worked a hardship on this city and forced strictest manipulation of funds to keep from issuing deficiency bonds, the city has actually lived within the income that that law allows, officials say. Officials are divided upon the advisability of passing the Taft law.

City Manager Hale believes that as long as the city is operated as at present, the passage of the Taft law would have no material effect other than to give the city its income easier. He believes that operation of the Taft law under the present administration would not increase taxes because the administration would not attempt to take advantage of the law to increase expenditures but that it would work as a relief to larger cities where in sufficient funds for operation can be obtained under the Smith law.

City Manager Zell believes passage of the law would open avenues for increased expenditures as it would provide a means of obtaining greater funds. While the present administration in Xenia might not take advantage of the opening to increase expenditures there is no insurance, he believes that some future administration might not get the city involved financially through application of the more lenient tax law. The Smith law fixing a limit as it does he believes, gives the ideal pressure to keep cities within their incomes.

EXPECT BIG CROWD TO WITNESS FIGHT FRIDAY EVENING

New York, Sept. 14.—Promoter Tex Rickard estimates that $5,000 persons will pay $1,300,000 to see the Dempsey-Firpo fight tonight.

It is estimated that one-fourth of the $5,000 are from out of town. The others here, pulling for Firpo, number about 500. The Argentine general consul, Ernesto Uerz, says there probably will be 500 natives of the Argentine and South America on hand for the fight. All the hotels are jammed with fight fans.

Manager Jack Kearns has received $500,000 for the champion's end of the fight and has banked it. Dempsey and Kearns were given the option of 7 1/2 per cent or of half a million. If the "gate" goes $1,600,000, Dempsey and Kearns will get another $100,000. If it cuts for 12 1/2 per cent, will draw about $163,000. The expenses of the fight are figured at $33,000. Promoter Rickard will get $500,000.

Dempsey, who is 28, will weigh about 190 when he enters the ring. Firpo is 27 and weighs 214. The champion is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches in height and Firpo 6 feet 2 1/2 inches. The battle is limited to 15 rounds, judge's decision. It will start at 9:30 "clock New York daylight saving time.

Jack Kearns, manager of Champion Dempsey, declared Jack would go after Luis Firpo from the first going as fast as he could. Kearns has been driving his friends to bet on a quick "O. Dempsey predicted "a tough fight." "They're all tough," he added. William Widemer, interpreter and representative of Firpo, said: "Luis told me he would punch Dempsey's head off."

NEW GARDENER WILL PLAY WITH LOCALS AGAINST HARSHMAN

By Wones

Joe Longnecker, who played second base for the Bayliffs Sunday against Harshmanville has been signed by Manager Bayliff for the rest of the season and will probably play in the outfield.

Tucker's hand will be all right by Sunday and he will return to first while Shuey will take care of the middle station. Longnecker is a Dayton boy and although he is a youngster he has been playing with the Danville, Kentucky team in the Piedmont League. Joe was injured sometime ago and was sent home by the club but he will report next season.

Last Sunday Longnecker played a fine game at the keystone sack for the Bayliffs and also got three timely bingles. According to Hoyle Longnecker is a shortstop but can fill in most any place. He has played the outfield before and with him, Kavanaugh and Leach in the gardens Manager Bayliff will have a fine set of fly chasers. All these lads can hit and are fast on their feet.

Now that each team has won a game the rub will be played Sunday at Washington park. This will no doubt be an interesting contest as both teams are evenly matched in all departments. Manager Bayliff will start Curt Free in the box while Catton will receive his slants. Tucker will play at first. Shuey at second. Early at short, Furnace at third and Longnecker, Leach and Kavanaugh in the gardens.

Harshmanville will stand pat on its regular lineup and feels sure it can again turn the tables on the locals. Sam Harshman will line up his men in the following order: Gaylor at first, Coy at second, Wirtz at short, Cyphers at third, while Paul, Berlien and Conley will be in the outfield. Duffy will catch, Harshman has a bunch of clouters in Duffy, Koehly, Coy and Gaylor. These lads are liable to break up a ball game at any time by their hitting. Koehly or "Lefty" Meyers will pitch. Meyers is the lad who handed the locals a beating when he pitched for the Dayton Racers and the Bay-liffs are hoping that he will get the call so they will get a chance to even up matters with the southpaw. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

GOOD CITIZEN IS DESCRIBED IN TALK TO LOCAL LEGION

"A good citizen is a man who never says anything about being a good citizen. When a man begins to talk about how patriotic, how loyal, how religious or how much a 100 per cent American he is, I begin right away to doubt that he is any of those things."

With this definition, Thurman "Dusty" Miller, editor of the Wilmington News-Journal, began his address on "A Good Citizen" before members of Joseph P. Pooty Post No. 95, American Legion, Thursday night. The definition of a "good citizen" was delivered before, during and after a stream of stories and humorous reflections that flowed in an apparently inexhaustible supply from the speaker, partly in emphasis or illustration of his point.

A good citizen is a person, who realizes the ratio of importance between himself and the rest of the people. When he goes that he has the first essential of good citizenship. You can't do a thing without the other people—you must realize that the other people are essential."

Mr. Miller, who edits the column, "Reflections for a Fired Mind—If Any" in the News-Journal and is a field representative for Wilmington college, exploded the commencement address fallacy that "life is a battle." "The last thing you want to get in head is that life is a battle," he said. "You head is that life is a battle." He told the world-fought for the world not against it. What the world needs now is love. What the world needs now is love and not hate. For that reason our late President will stand for all time as an apostle of good will."

Another type of so-called citizen was described by Mr. Miller as the "Poor Me" type. "The 'Poor Me' citizen," he said, "makes citizenship without activities it is dead. Participation in all gives opportunity for the greatest success."

Mr. Miller was introduced by Dr. B. R. McClellan, post commander and the usual business session was curtailed, members enjoying a Post luncheon after the address and formal adjournment. Preceding the opening of the meeting, Don Currie's Orchestra furnished music. Dr. McClellan announced that Secretary of State Thad H. Brown a member of the American Legion would speak at the next monthly meeting.

Members accepted an invitation from Lewis Post G. A. R. to attend the annual "watermelon feast" of that organization to be held Sept. 29.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

A RESISTED TEMPTATION

Chapter XXVII

As I read my closely written pages of Paul's letter my heart fairly leaped with joy. My husband would soon be home, so he said. He predicted the end of the war near and said his services would no longer be required abroad. He sent me a check for $75 telling me not to expect any more. He had used for all the surplus cash he had because of the expense of coming back. It was a rambling sort of a letter, quite different from his usual short notes; but I was so happy over his promised return I did not think much about the rest—inconsequential things of which I knew nothing.

Now I worked feverishly, looking for the postman: watching for a cable Paul said he would let me know when he sailed.

It is not to be supposed that I knew nothing of public matters, nothing of the war news; but I had been unable to take part in the work others did, had scarcely taken time to read even the war news; but I had been unable poorer as the years passed. A sort of vertigo often unfitted me for work and for an entire day I would have to lie on my back, doing nothing. I had wondered how much longer I could go on if I would have to write father, ask him for help. But with Paul's letter there came new strength. He would soon be home would care for us.

At times I forgot his irresponsibility, forgot the hard times we had passed through together and remembered only my love for him. The kindness he had shown me when things went to please him.

I had paid up every penny of our indebtedness. We would start in debt-free upon his return. How pleased he would be I thought, the wonder if he would be, if he would give me credit? Bills had meant so little to Paul.

I had one temptation during the years of Paul's absence, a temptation of which I have not spoken; the wish at discouraged times to communicate with Dave Logan, ask his advice, perhaps his help. But after failing to get into communication with him when Paul first left I had given up the idea of appealing to him. Then came my removal to the mean rooms we occupied, the work, my illness,—then because of our shabbiness, pride.

I lived in a part of the city remote from Logan's home, his haunts. It was nothing remarkable that I had neither seen nor heard of him. Yet after receiving Paul's letter he was often in my thoughts. I wondered if he would again befriend Paul? Should it be necessary would he take an interest in him, help him to find a position—if he had nothing in view. I forgot all the harsh things I had heard about Logan. I remembered only his kindnesses.

It had been nearly five years since I had seen my husband. Five years of loneliness, of grinding poverty, of work beyond my strength. Yet unlike the women who had given their time to work for soldiers, who had nursed run canteens, done all the hundred and one things our brave, self-sacrificing women did to help. I had no reward in feeling I had helped my country, no feeling that I had done my bit to comfort me. Paul had gone "over there," to be sure; but at no time had he been in danger. He had been living a life of ease in Paris, the Paris he loved. I could not foster the feeling that I had done my part by giving him I tried, but it would not come.

When the Armistice was signed, and heard the joyous demonstration which followed I felt I had no part or lot in it, happy as I felt that the war was over. My own feeling was that now Paul would come home, be with us, care for us.

This lack of patriotism was, I now knew, due to my condition—at least in part. I was worn out, physically; my mental processes were dwarfed by the years of figuring how to keep my children with me, clothed and reasonably contented.

Evening came in to rejoice over the end of the war, to rejoice with me when I told her the news, that Paul would soon be home.

Woman in the entire country who has "Do you suppose there is another woman in the entire country who has done nothing to help?" I asked her as we chatted.

"Ruby, you have helped. You have done what you could, what you had to do, your duty. Don't feel that way, dear. It is all over now for us. Peace will come to you as well as to the world. And Ruby, I believe there are many women like you, women who because their husbands have been away have given themselves to their families and so have been unable to do anything more."

I felt comforted, yet even so I wondered if it were so.

COLUMBUS MEN ARE INDICTED ON 14 COUNTS

President and Vice President of Dollings Firm Accused.

HARRISON ARRESTED

Further Indictments Are Expected Says Attorney General

Columbus, Sept. 14.—Indictments on 14 counts charging William G. Benham, Columbus, president and Dwight Harrison also of Columbus, vice president and secretary of the defunct R. L. Dollings Company of Ohio with obtaining money under false pretenses were returned by the Preble County Grand Jury, according to announcement by Attorney General Crabbe today.

Harrison was arrested here late Thursday night and lodged in the Preble County Jail today. Benham has not yet been apprehended, being out of the city and his whereabouts unknown it was stated.

Similar conditions relative to the Dollings Company are being investigated in several counties and further indictments may be expected, Attorney General Crabbe said.

"We hope to prosecute in Franklin County where the home office was located on charges of embezzlement and misappropriation of hundreds of thousands, possibly millions of dollars," the attorney general declared.

"Benham and Harrison were indicted for making alleged false statements in writing concerning the property and means of the Phoenix Portland Cement Company of Ohio, a subsidiary of the Dollings company; false representation that the subsidiary companies financed by the Dollings Company were earning and paying their own dividends and that purported dividends had been paid from the proceeds of stock sales, and not from surplus earnings," said Attorney General Crabbe.

PRESS CENSORSHIP GOVERNOR'S LATEST STEP IN OKLAHOMA

Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 14.—Censorship of the press, Governor J. C. Walton's latest step in his campaign to "clean up" Oklahoma, was in effect today in Tulsa and was threatened here.

"We have a man in the Tulsa Tribune to see that everything that goes into that paper is censored and we contemplate doing the same to the Muskogee Phoenix if it becomes necessary," Dr. A. F. Davenport, State Health Commissioner, announced, speaking for the governor.

An injunction in U. S. Court will be sought to prevent Governor Walton from interfering in the operation of Tulsa Tribune, according to a statement by owners today. The governor had declared he would send a military censor to the Tribune office.

With the installation of censorship of the press, the resignation within 24 hours of W. R. Sampson, grand exalted cyclops of Muskogee klan number 3, was demanded by the governor through Davenport. Failure to comply with the demand will mean an order for extension of martial law to Muskogee, he said.

Surrounded by his armed bodyguard and a carefully laid screen of secrecy, Governor Walton left Tulsa hurriedly on a mission of special inquiry, said to be directed toward renewed defiance reported shown by the invisible empire in Okmulgee.

According to reports current here, fogging and night terrorism has flared up again in Okmulgee. A brutal whipping is said to have been administered there by hooded foggers, in the face of Governor Walton's strict proclamation.

From Bartlesville dispatches convey the information that knowledge of a recent fogging there became known to the authorities. Information is that the governor's own investigators discovered the fogging evidence in Okmulgee and reported direct to him.

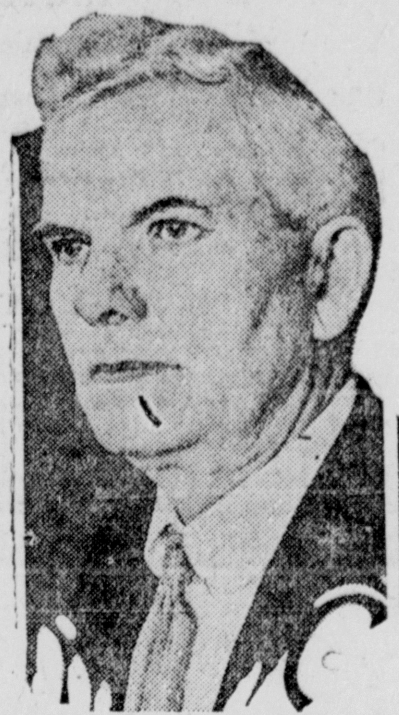

Certain it is that, far from withdrawing martial law in Tulsa, its control will be extended in the state. It is an open secret that the governor intends to place Muskogee, Okmulgee and perhaps Bartlesville under military rule soon as troops are available and he is in a position to move his military court of inquiry from Tulsa to the city or town next in line for a clean-up.

Marshall Moore, former special deputy sheriff, went on preliminary trial for the alleged fogging of Leonard Bagby at Broken Arrow in July, 1922. He was bound over to the district court in $15,000 bail.

MINE OWNERSHIP BY THE PUBLIC IS HINT GIVEN

Coal Commission Makes Important Recommendations

SEEK BETTER SERVICE

Bituminous Fields Are Also Affected It Is Pointed Out.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Unless the public receives better services from the coal industry, public ownership of that industry may become necessary.

The United States coal commission so intimates in a report on "labor relations in bituminous coal mining." The report contains thirty-seven recommendations and suggestions. These conclusions are presented, the report states significantly, in the hope that they "may help to point the way to better relations and to such service to the public that resort to public ownership may be unnecessary."

Some of the more important recommendations of the commission follow:

That both sides study means of meeting the fundamental problem of unemployment through stabilization of the industry, and that joint commissions be established to make thorough studies of the principal jobs and of the existing rate differentials, looking to revision of the rate structure at present marked by so many inequalities; that the government collect and publish rates and rate changes in the non-union fields; that check-weighmen be employed by the men in non-union fields "as a means of insuring confidence in weights;" that the form of wage payment known as "sub-contracting" and that leasing of convict labor to operators be discontinued.

That each agreement in the union fields provide that disputed cases of discharge be settled promptly through conciliation or arbitration and that non-union operators place adequate checks on the exercise of the right to discharge.

That violence, thuggery and gun work be condemned; whether practiced by the union to enforce complete unionization, or by the operators to prevent it.

That individual contracts which are not free-will contracts be abolished; that the right of union and non-union workers to advance their cause by "peaceful and honest persuasion" be recognized; and that a system of national negotiations, with district agreements be worked out to avoid standard-cutting district wars.

The report advocates the fullest of publicity in all phases of the industry and stresses the need of closer contact between district union officers and the men.

Referring to the checkoff, the commission "recognized its injurious effects upon the union," but expressed the belief that "the unsettling effects of casting out this practice might more than over-balance the gains." It might be well to discontinue the checkoff for the collection of fines and special assessments, the commission believes, but the question is one which is not vital enough to justify suspension of operations.

The report commends against compulsory arbitration as a means of preventing a national strike, declaring that the commissioners "do not believe in discretion-made law." It adds that there is no way to enforce a compulsory award which does not involve enforced labor or enforced operation.

Dr. Cuno, now counsel for the Hamburg-American Steamship line, said he was visiting the United States as a private citizen. This is his fourth visit to America.

"In my last proposal while chancellor, I gave thirty billion gold marks as the figure Germany could pay," Cuno said. "That is the limit of her ability today."

Cuno said his trip was for the purpose of renewing many personal and business friendships in America and declared that his presence in this country was without political purpose.

HEART OF OHIO CITY WIPED OUT BY DISASTROUS FIRE ON FRIDAY

Athens, O., Sept. 14.—Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, swept through the business district of New Straitsville, Perry County, about 25 miles from here, early this morning, destroying eleven business buildings before it was brought under control.

The conflagration wiped out the main portion of the city and the fire departments of Logan and Lancaster helped to battle the flames which were controlled only by dynamiting buildings. The origin of the blaze is believed to have been an oil soaked bundle of rags that was lighted and placed against the frame building occupied by the Elks lodge.

The flames spread rapidly and the damage is estimated at more than $200,000.

FROST THURSDAY IS EARLIEST IN FIVE YEARS IN COUNTY

The earliest frost here in the last five years damaged early corn in the lowlands, and nipped tomatoes and sweet potatoes, Thursday night.

Ford S. Prince, County Farm Bureau Agent, had not completed an investigation of the damage resulting here Friday when he said that early corn and late garden truck probably suffered from the frost.

Tobacco is said to have been nipped by the cold weather, but this fact will not affect the majority of Greene County farmers. Tobacco growers in the county are few, mostly in the neighborhood of Bellbrook.

The thermometers over the county dropped to well below 40 degrees unofficially, and garden truck in the lowlands suffered particularly.

The cold spell was general over the state, corn and late garden truck suffering the worst damage. More of the cold weather is promised for Friday night with warmer weather scheduled for Sunday. An early winter storm, with snow and frost in the Northwest, accounts for the drop in temperature here, it is said.

Overcoats with lingering moth ball odors is an early fashion note predicted by the weather man for the week-end. Beebees proved their inadequacy Thursday night, vests were sorted out and straw hats curled up on their owner's heads.

New York, Sept. 14.—The world's record of 233 miles an hour, established Monday by a marine corps plane, was shattered at Mineola when a navy biplane attained a speed of 255 miles an hour. Lieutenant H. J. Brown piloted the plane. He will pilot the plane in the Pulitzer race in St. Louis early in October. Lieutenant L. H. Sanderson, who made the record Monday also will fly for the navy at St. Louis.

TO DISPLAY FLAGS ON COUNTY SCHOOL BUILDINGS BY LAW

A county-wide effort on the part of the county school officials to have the United States flag floating on a staff, outside the school buildings of the county, the Ten Commandments on the walls and the Scripture readings on the teacher's desks, and also a careful study of both the state and national constitution is being made according to County Superintendent of Schools, H. C. Aultman.

The local action, is in accordance to the recent state law, Section 7621, which requires all Boards of Education and all principals of public or private schools, or other educational to display the United States flag, not less than five feet in length, over or within all school buildings within their control during each day schools are in session, and that in all public schools the Boards of Education, shall make rules and regulations necessary for the care and keeping of the flags, the expense to be paid out of their contingent fund, according to Mr. Aultman.

"In a number of districts of the county local and patriotic organizations are donating flags and flag poles to the schools and making preparations for impressive ceremonies with the raising and presentation of flags. It is planned to supplement this with a proper teaching of patriotism necessary for the preservation and safety of every country," Mr. Aultman said.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

OHIO OATS CROP TO YIELD FIFTY FIVE MILLION BUSHELS DURING THIS YEAR

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—The Ohio oats crop is estimated to yield 55,500,000 bushels this year, or about 35 bushels per acre, Statistician C. J. West of the federal-state crop reporting service, announced here. Other crops in the buckeye state, he said, show "good to excellent" prospects.

The oats crop in Ohio last year totalled slightly less than 40,000,000 bushels. West said the oats crop throughout the nation this year will aggregate about 100,000,000 bushels above last year.

The corn crop is forecast at a record breaking total of a little less than 178,000,000 bushels for Ohio. Potatoes show a slight decline in condition over August. The average state yield for timothy hay is estimated at 1.1 tons per acre, compared with 1.4 tons last year. Apparently, there was about 75 percent of a normal full crop of clover hay. Tobacco is reported in good condition. Condition of pasture is fairly good. That of soy beans is high. Truck crops are rated as fairly good. Statistician West said, taking the state as a whole, there will be from 65 to 70 percent of a normal full crop of apples, peaches and pears.

STRAW HAT AT MEETING SCORED

City commissioners in session Thursday night adjourned before they had taken up the question of City Auditor T. H. Zell's straw hat.

When the commission adjourned City Manager S. O. Hafe emerged in a soft hat and wearing an overcoat. Following him came City Auditor Zell and the summer head piece.

Commissioners rushed on the straw topper and would have done away with it had not saner minds interfered. On motion it was agreed to carry the matter over to the next meeting. Drastic action will probably be taken if the hat is still in evidence two weeks from Thursday.

Miss Helen Boye is spending a week in Columbus with Mrs. J. M. Dillon.

Mrs. Edward Darling of the Jamestown pike, is suffering from an attack of summer grip.

The commission voted to appropriate funds to purchase a Ford touring car for the use of the department. Patrolmen will use the car in testing alarm boxes, answering emergency calls and general police patrol work, it is said.

That the Police Department should be equipped with an automobile was the recommendation of J. D. Breese, state examiner, in his report of the city's finance recently submitted. The commission authorized The Dayton Power and Light Company to erect a bridge on South King Street over the upper branch of Shawnee Creek to give the company access to the auxiliary station on South King Street. Plans for the bridge were submitted and approved.

The ordinance provided for an amendment to the charter to be voted on at the November election was placed on its second reading and passed. The amendment will provide that should no more than twice the number of candidates file for city commission than there are vacancies to secure, that the nominating primary will be automatically abandoned.

The Right of Way

The train that gets "behind time" must sometimes lie for hours on side-tracks while other trains that are on time go by.

Passengers on such trains waste a lot of valuable time. They miss connections and consequently fail to keep their appointments. They lose money as well as time.

People who do not SAVE regularly, also lose the right of way. They fall behind and are side-tracked while the more successful ones pass by.

Trains sometimes make up lost time. You can do the same with a steady growing savings account. Start here today before it is too late—and catch up.

OUTLOOK CHEERING TO G. O. P. LEADERS.

President Coolidge gave concurrence today to the date suggested by Chairman John T. Adams for the meeting of the Republican National Committee, which is to fix the time and place of the 1924 national convention. The committee will meet in Washington December 11, the President having indicated he contemplated no other engagements which would cause him to be absent from the capital. It was not expected he would participate in the sessions of the committee, but the custom has been for a President to receive the committeemen at the White House, usually at a lunch.

Chairman Adams did not disclose whether he had discussed the general political situation with the President, but it was learned that all the reports reaching both Mr. Coolidge and himself were that affairs were developing nicely both for the President and the party.

The thirty days which have elapsed since the death of President Harding have been adequate to enable party chiefs to gauge the reaction, and they are agreed—as, indeed, are some Democrats in their moments of candor—that the tragic circumstances served to stabilize sentiment everywhere.

Reports which Republican leaders are receiving almost daily agree that Mr. Coolidge has inherited almost all of the assets and very few of the liabilities of the Harding Administration. By liabilities they mean the natural difficulties which accrue to any Administration during two years of office. There is, for example, the freedom of Mr. Coolidge from the party discontent which follows the inability of a President to appoint a hundred men to the same Federal position. He has been able to launch a new Administration minus that handicap.

The President has reiterated his determination not to take a hand in the choice of the convention city, but it may be put down as definite that Chicago will lose her apparent monopoly on the G. O. P. gatherings unless and until there are proper guarantees against overcharging by hotels in 1924. Frederick W. Upham, of Chicago, treasurer of the committee, is trying to overcome that obstacle. President Harding was said to have been unfavorable to Chicago for 1924 because of the excessive charges he said were levied against him in 1920. There was, moreover, the ejaculation of a newspaper treasurer on seeing the hotel bills of his paper's correspondents during the convention: "We authorized you to rent rooms, not to buy the whole hotel."

Today, Calvin Coolidge has the nomination in the hollow of his hand. He can and may, of course, lose it. The world of politics is an uncertain place, having its own tidal waves and earthquakes. A hard winter is before Mr. Coolidge, with plenty of holes in the ice. The farm bill will be on his back. So, too, will the bonus advocates. The Sixty-eighth Congress promises to be a terror, with the Progressives setting up deadfalls and digging pits and the Democratic sharpshooters giving no quarter.

It is all a question of holding what he has, avoiding the pitfalls, walking cautiously and with circumspection and making no glaring mistakes for a few months.

IRELAND FREE STATE'S PRIDE IS ARMY TRAINED IN YEAR OF CHAOS.

Not the least achievement of the Ireland Free State during the last year has been the task of raising, equipping and disciplining the national army. It was literally born and reared on the battlefield. The lineal successor of the Irish volunteers and the Irish Republican Army, it is only since midsummer that it has known anything about peace-time existence.

It was only in June of last year that raw levies took the field, ill-equipped, undisciplined and badly officered; and in the fighting around Limerick only thirteen months ago one occasionally saw a newly arrived recruit out on field service in a jockey cap, sports trousers and any old kind of a jacket.

While General Collins first and General Mulcahy afterward were trying to recruit and drill an army, De Valera's cohorts were out destroying communications, murdering inhabitants in cold blood, isolating whole districts, burning dwelling houses, commandeering property of every description and creating in general a reign of terror. Thus, when it should have been wearing swaddling clothes, the Free State Government and the army which it created were confronted from the outset with the problem of rescuing the land from chaos.

Gradually the military forces have been whipped into shape. Six months ago we printed a series of articles on the situation in the Free State showing the darkest period of its existence. The writer, who at that time stressed the need of discipline in the army, has just seen a Bothar Buadha (victory march) in Dublin. Three thousand troops of the national army—foot, horse and artillery—with eight generals riding at their head took part in this parade, which was in honor of the first anniversary of Michael Collins' death. It was an imposing military spectacle and it is a pleasure to record that battalion after battalion of smartly uniformed troops marched by, trained to the last ounce, executing complicated maneuvers with clock-like precision.

That is what General Mulcahy, Minister for Defense, who has just retired as commander-in-chief, had done with the raw recruits one saw fighting in the southern area twelve months before. General Mulcahy succeeded Collins as commander-in-chief.

Tomato catsup recipes vary so much that I am giving the following different ones, for my Reader Friends to choose from:

Old-Time Tomato Catsup: Boil one bushel of ripe tomatoes through a colander to remove the skins. Now mix together two pounds of brown sugar, one cup of salt, two tablespoons each of ground cinnamon, all spice, mace and celery seed and stir this mixture into the tomatoes. Add two quarts of cider vinegar. Stir well together then strain all through a sieve to eliminate the liquid part (that is, the part that runs through easily). Put this liquid into an agate kettle and boil it slowly till reduced one-half, then mix it with the other (thicker) part of the catsup and turn all into sterilized bottles. Cork tightly and dip bottles in clear water for 15 minutes.

To Make a Small Quantity of Tomato Catsup: Skin a gallon of ripe tomatoes by pouring boiling water over them then rubbing off the skins with your fingers. Let them cool before putting them into an agate or enamelware kettle with four tablespoons of salt, one teaspoon ground black pepper, two teaspoons of ground mustard and one-half teaspoon of ground allspice. Also add six red pepper pods, mash all together as much as possible, and bring to the boiling point over low heat, let simmer till the tomatoes are tender (adding a very little hot water if necessary to keep from burning). Then thin the mixture with one pint of vinegar (or enough to allow it to be strained through a sieve) and return the strained liquid to the kettle to boil for 15 minutes longer. Turn while hot into warm sterilized bottles, and seal with cork and paraffine as directed above.

Tomato-Onion Catsup: Boil one-half bushel of ripe tomatoes for 40 minutes, then press through a wide-meshed sieve to eliminate skins.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, E. A. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Put this pulpy liquid back into the preserving kettle with 18 peeled and finely-chopped onions, one ounce each of ground mace, cloves and salt and add one tablespoon each of black pepper and ground mustard. (These spices must be pounded together and tied up in a muslin bag.) Boil all for five hours, when it should be thick enough to allow the addition of one-half pint of vinegar to each quart. (Add the vinegar after the catsup is cold, then bottle and seal as above directed.)

C. REED, LOCKBOURNE, O.

Mr. Clark Reed, steel worker with the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., living at Lockbourne, O., is delighted over his experience with Ka-di-Ok. He says: "A few weeks ago I was on the Main street market and felt decidedly blue, as I was suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism and felt as though I had a million pins sticking into me. I ran across a friend of mine and he noticed my condition. He immediately told me he was pretty sure he knew of something that would help me and advised me to get some Ka-di-Ok and take it right away. I acted on his advice and took home three bottles with me. After I had taken Ka-di-Ok for a few days I noticed a wonderful change in my condition. I continued taking it regularly for several weeks and am now entirely well. Ka-di-Ok not only relieved my rheumatism, but helped my system and made me feel stronger and better in every way. I am working every day, eat hearty, sleep well and can stand up to my work as well as anybody. Ka-di-Ok seems to have driven all the rheumatism out of my system, and I deem it my duty to tell others about it."

Ka-di-Ok can be had in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's Drug Store. adv

TIME
Time is the space allotted to the clay,
Wherein it moves, loves, strives
And seeks its goal;
A gift to flesh to use, but not control.
Man shapes it into hours for toil and play,
Some for his dreams and some to sleep away,
Some for his purse, and some to feed his soul,
But only God is Master of the whole;

When shall his last hour come,
Man can say,
Time may be reckoned by the
tuent clock,
Or measured by the calendar
years,
And some may count it by garnered stock
And others by their pleasure their tears,
But howsoever 'tis measured,
man knows
Where waits the final hour to which he goes.

Today's Talk

CONQUERING WHEN AFRAID OF YOURSELF

It is a spectacle worth watching when a man goes ahead unafraid of those combating against him. But it is a much more wonderful sight to see a man battling against his own fears—afraid of himself.

That is courage of the highest order.

Wellington, on seeing a general going into battle with a set jaw and a white face, exclaimed: "There goes a brave man. He knows his danger and faces it."

It is the fear of yourself that you have most to contend against.

To know that you have weaknesses, to be able to place your finger upon them, and to say in your heart that you are going to rise and be strong, is to become strong sooner or later.

And it is the strong men who inherit the earth.

You should learn to undertake more and greater things than you think at first that you are able to carry through.

No one knows his power until he has tried it out.

One way to become strong is to play to your strong points, ignoring your weaknesses. Exercise your entire being and where there is weakness, growing strength is bound to make your weak points strong. In the same manner as a weak muscle becomes strong by the playing of a stronger muscle upon it.

Wiping out fear from our make-up is like clearing a road of rubbish.

Learn to take it for granted every faculty of your mind and body stands ready to attempt most difficult task that you can imagine.

Be yourself—then keep darin be bigger than yourself.

City Lives Within Income Of Smith 1 Per Cent Law

In the face of the fact that many cities say they will have to curtail important civic services unless the proposed Taft tax law is passed, Xenia City will not suffer materially should the measure be defeated.

This is indicated in the answers to a questionnaire sent out by George V. Sheridan, executive director of the Ohio State council of Retail Merchants, and answered by City Auditor T. H. Zell and City Manager S. O. Hale.

The questionnaires were sent out to Ohio cities in an effort to learn what effect non-passage of the law will have on the cities, before the council determines its position on it. A preliminary inquiry is said to have shown that many cities will have to cut police and fire protection and some abandon garbage collection and street cleaning and even water purification.

The fact that Xenia City is living within its income and has lopped off about $110 of its tax levy for this year, is proof that Xenia will not suffer should the measure be defeated. Answering the questionnaire, local officials said this city is not operating on any levies outside of the limits set by the Smith one per cent law; that Xenia does not expect to ask the people for an additional levy at the November election; that the city has not been compelled to curtail its services because of insufficient income due to the Smith law; that this city has not had to resort to new forms of taxation, such as occupation business and license taxes to increase its income; that this city is not contemplating any new form of tax; that Xenia is not contemplating additional assessments; that Xenia has not been forced to resort to street carnivals; that this city has not resorted to diverting bond funds to current expenditures; that it has not been forced to divert sinking funds to current expenditures; that no officials have been forced to serve without pay and that merchants or citizens have not voluntarily subscribed money to make possible the continuance of service.

Although the Smith one per cent law has worked a hardship on this city and forced strictest manipulation of funds to keep from issuing deficiency bonds, the city has actually lived within the income that that law allows, officials say. Officials are divided upon the advisability of passing the Taft law.

City Manager Hale believes that as long as the city is operated as at present, the passage of the Taft law would have no material effect other than to give the city its income easier. He believes that operation of the Taft law under the present administration would not increase taxes because the administration would not attempt to take advantage of the law to increase expenditures but that it would work as a relief to larger cities where in sufficient funds for operation can be obtained under the Smith law.

City Manager Zell believes passage of the law would open avenues for increased expenditures as it would provide a means of obtaining greater funds. While the present administration in Xenia might not take advantage of the opening to increase expenditures there is no insurance, he believes that some future administration might not get the city involved financially through application of the more lenient tax law. The Smith law fixing a limit as it does he believes, gives the ideal pressure to keep cities within their incomes.

EXPECT BIG CROWD TO WITNESS FIGHT FRIDAY EVENING

New York, Sept. 14.—Promoter Tex Rickard estimates that $5,000 persons will pay $1,500,000 to see the Dempsey-Firpo fight tonight.

It is estimated that one-fourth of the $5,000 are from out of town. The tubane here, pulling for Firpo, number about 500. The Argentine general consul, Ernesto Uerz, says there probably will be 500 natives of the Argentine and South America on and for the fight. All the hotels are jammed with fight fans.

Manager Jack Kearns has received $500,000 for the champion's end of the fight and has banked it. Dempsey and Kearns were given the option of 75 per cent or of half a million. If the "gate" goes $1,500,000, Dempsey and Kearns will get another $100,000, each, cutting for 12 1/2 per cent, will draw about $163,000. The expenses of the fight are figured at $32,000. Promoter Rickard will get $500,000.

Dempsey, who is 38, will weigh about 190 when he enters the ring. Firpo is 27 and weighs 214. The champion is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches in height and Firpo 6 feet 2 1/2 inches. The battle is limited to 15 rounds, judge's decision. It will start at 9:30 o'clock New York daylight saving time.

Jack Kearns, manager of Champion Dempsey, declared Jack would go after Luis Firpo from the first going as fast as he could. Kearns has been advising his friends to bet on a quick O. Dempsey predicted "a tough fight." "They're all tough," he added. William Widemer, interpreter and representative of Firpo, said: "Luis told me he would punch Dempsey's lead off."

NEW GARDENER WILL PLAY WITH LOCALS AGAINST HARSHMAN

By Wones
Joe Longnecker, who played second base for the Bayliffs Sunday against Harshmanville has been signed by Manager Bayliff for the rest of the season and will probably play in the outfield.

Tucker's hand will be all right by Sunday and he will return to first while Shuey will take care of the middle station. Longnecker is a Dayton boy and although he is a youngster he has been playing with the Danville, Kentucky team in the Piedmont League. Joe was injured sometime ago and was sent home by the club but he will report next season.

Last Sunday Longnecker played a fine game at the keystone sack for the Bayliffs and also got three timely bingles. According to Hoyle Longnecker is a shortstop but can fill in most any place. He has played the outfield before and with him, Kavanaugh and Leach in the gardens Manager Bayliff will have a fine set of fly chasers. All these lads can hit and are fast on their feet.

Now that each team has won a game the rub will be played Sunday at Washington park. This will no doubt be an interesting contest as both teams are evenly matched in all departments. Manager Bayliff will start Curt Free in the box while Catton will receive his slants. Tucker will play at first. Shuey at second. Early at short. Furnace at third and Long-

MONEY TALKS

Sneer at it, despise it, squander it. Yet money talks, and the whole world harkens.

It whispers hope to the despairing. It brings comfort and bread to the starving. It is the friend of life when properly used.

IT IS THE PILLAR OF SUCCESS

Yes, it will buy your shoes, clothing, food, automobiles, your home or farm and your luxuries.

BUT, it will buy more at some places than it will at others.

Look for the place where your money will buy the most and get the better value and quality.

You know where the BIG idea is to render greater service, more value and better quality.

The chips are flying around our Hat cases—but they are all new chips off clean new blocks—there is no deadwood or driftwood in sight. Every hat new—everyone blocked to express something more than to make an impression on our Sales record.

If you need a new hat—and 94 out of every hundred men who live in Xenia do—come to head-quarters and hatquarters where you can be sure of taking home a hat that won't be sent back when your wife sees it.
